In 1629, the pride of the Dutch fleet was on its way to the East Indies when it hit a coral reef off the coast of Australia and sank. Some of the 300 passengers and crew drowned but most managed to swim to the nearby cluster of uninhabited islands. For the survivors, it was the equivalent of crash landing on the moon. They were stranded thousands of kilometres from any known civilisation, on alien land with little hope of rescue. The survivors probably thought their situation couldn't get any worse. In fact, their nightmare was just beginning.	AUSTRALIA	English-100	2017	RPT	M	a v	Y

Railways created the great cities, gave Britain its National Health Service and the Football League, helped win wars and emancipated women. In the 1820s, a funny looking machine was pulling coal five miles along a primitive track between a mine near Newcastle Mine and the river Tyne. The locomotive, Puffing Billy, changed everything.
