2019-10-13	2040	History	Concorde: Designing The Dream		Designing The Dream	01	1	For more than a quarter of a century, Concorde was the undisputed queen of the skies. It was the most advanced airliner ever built and her technological achievements have not been matched to this day. But, to get Concorde in the air would not be an easy journey. Designed in the late 50's and early 60's, all of Concorde's original plans were hand drawn by the country's top engineers. Speaking to one of the only surviving head engineers, we understand how outlandish a plan it was in the 60's to build an airliner that could fly at twice the speed of sound, carrying 100 passengers at a time, when only a handful of fighter jets could break the sound barrier. 2019-10-13	2130	History	Concorde: Designing The Dream		Triumph And Tragedy	01	2	In the early 80's, Concorde was admired the world over - its distinctive shape became a welcome sight over Heathrow and JFK airport. It seemed it was loved by all, apart from the management of British Airways, who were horrified that Concorde was losing tens of millions a year. Just when it seemed that Concorde was on an unstoppable high, the unthinkable happened when the world was shaken by the Paris crash in 2000. We speak to pilots and crash investigators who were at the scene to reveal the real reasons for the Paris crash and how Air France used the incident to terminate Concorde services forever. 2019-10-15	1535	History	Royal Murder Mysteries	Ludwig II: The Mad King Of Bavaria	01	6	King Ludwig of Bavaria was gay, wildly eccentric and built fairy tale castles that today rate as Germany's leading tourist attractions. Originally ruled as suicide, recent evidence has come to light that suggests murder.
